JUDGE MOORMAN THE MAN

Judge Henry DeHaven Moorman, having served well and faithfully his county in the most responsible position within the gift of its citizens, as the youngest County Judge ever elected in Kentucky, now aspires to serve his State as a member of the Board of Control for Charitable Institutions, a most responsible office in which there is a great field for energetic effort and helpful accomplishment. The appointment is to be made by the Governor and the member must be a Democrat, his term beginning January 1, 1910. He has filed his application and it is supported by one of the strongest indorsements ever given a young man for any honor. The News, the official organ of the Democratic party in Breckenridge county, desires to lend its editorial endorsement to Judge Moorman as one of Kentucky's strongest and ablest young Democrats, especially qualified by nature and experience to capably fill the position he seeks. He comes of one of our State's oldest and largest Democratic families, Gen. George Moorman, at the time of his death, having been at the head of the Confederate Veteran's Association. Judge Moorman served with Gen. Castleman and the First Kentucky Regiment in Porto Rico. As County Judge, since he was 26 years of age, he has managed the affairs of one of the largest counties in the state with credit to himself, and on the bench he has proved himself a disciplinarian as well as good lawyer. In politics, and as an editor, he has fearlessly stood for what he thought right, regardless of consequences, proving himself to be the highest type of public servant. He is honest, energetic, ambitious and progressive and has never undertaken anything in which he did not make himself felt.

In his party, he is backed by his State Central Committeeman, County Chairman, all the officials of his county, both Democrat and Republican candidates, many party officials of his district and many leading business men. In Owensboro, his former home, he has an indorsement that is as strong as could be had. In Louisville, he is indorsed by many of the leading men of the South, Democrats, Republicans, business and professional men. He will have good indorsement from nearly every part of the State.

It is urged by other applicants that location is an important factor in the appointment. If the law had contemplated filling the positions by districts, it would have so said. We believe that true merit and indorsement should be the basis of selection. We know our applicant is a man of integrity, ability and principle and that he has as many friends as any man of his age in Kentucky, in his party and out. He is worthy, appointed or not appointed—and his friends are for him.

THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.

Peyton Claycomb, of the Fourth District, and the Democratic nominee for Assessor is one of the very best and eminently qualified young men in the county for the office. He has had four years experience in the office as deputy under Mr. Manning and the people of the county appreciated him. He has under him as deputies, J. O. Leslie, of the Fifth District, Ben Taul, of the Second and Roland Watlington, of the Third. In no way could Mr. Claycomb have convinced the people that he was fitted for the office for which he is a candidate more thoroughly than he has done in the selection of his deputies. These men are well-known in their respective communities. They will secure votes for the Democratic ticket and they are a guarantee that the ticket Mr. Claycomb represents is one of a high moral type and that it is sure of election.

Of all the important offices in the county that of Sheriff takes rank. With H. G. Vessels at the head of the ticket, and representing the Third District, Sam Marshal of the First, Jim Seaton, of the Second, Charlie Butler of the Fifth and Frank Ruppert of the Sixth, the people of the county are sure of prompt attention from the executive office. Mr. Vessels as Magistrate from his home has made a record that no man in the county in the same capacity ever excelled. Sam Marshal has the experience, having been deputy under Mr. Miller; Jim Seaton is a business man who will devote the same careful attention to the office that has made him a successful business man, and Frank Ruppert is well known for his sterling business qualities and in his district, in the office of magistrate, he has won the respect and support of every one interested in the welfare of the county and the people.

The Republicans have no claims upon the great rank and file of their party for the support of their ticket in this race. The manner in which it was made up ought to condemn it in the estimation of the people. The bosses put in a few fellows who had money, and those who were worthy, and entitled to a place on the ticket were set aside. If you want to break up the machine vote against them.

Only a few days remain now until the final rally. Let there be a strong pull, and a pull together, and there will be no doubt as to the result. The Democrats right now are in the lead.

There should be no stay at homes on election day among the Democrats. Let every man turn out, and this election will be won far the whole Democratic ticket.

Now is the time for all Democrats to work. Let there be a complete organization in every precinct, and defeat in this election will be impossible.

That 500 majority that the Republicans are making so much fuss about will amount to nothing, if the Democrats turn out, and do their duty.

The candidates on the Democratic ticket are good clean men, and when elected they will give the county the best service she has ever had.

We want every Democrat to go to the polls and vote on the 2nd day of November, and victory is ours.

JOE W. TRENT

Joe W. Trent is one of Breckenridge county's most cultured and educated young men and as the nominee for Superintendent of schools, is one of the luckiest nominations the Democrat party made in the convention. He is qualified mentally and morally to come up to the standard of the most exacting. As the superintendent of the schools of Breckenridge county he will continue the progress begun and so successfully conducted under the administration of Prof. Pile who is responsible more than any other several men for the advanced condition of the schools of the county. Joe Trent represents a part of the county that is in itself a guarantee that unless he was a fit man for the position he now seeks he could not have the hearty support he now has of Democrats and Republicans alike.

TOBACCO

W. B. Taul said to a representative of the News yesterday, in speaking of the tobacco situation for this season, "I have found one thousand and four hundred acres of tobacco in the Cloverport magisterial district. Eight hundred, twelve and one-half acres pledged. Four or five men not seen." Mr. Taul said the crop does not look as good as the tobacco did last year, but the growers seem to be working hard and are very hopeful for a fine yield.

GOOD ADVICE TO FARMERS.

To the Tobacco Growers: There are a large number of farmers this year who have tobacco that never grewed it before. I notice in the stripping of tobacco some make a great mistake in the stripping. When stripping your tobacco you can make your crop bring you a good price or a low price.

In stripping your tobacco if you have tips, short red, long red, bright leaf, long bright leaf, bright lugs, red lugs, trash, long, short, dont tie them as you take them from the stalk but grade them as to lengths and color, tie the leaves into medium hands, neat and nice.

When you do this you will get the best prices.

Putting the common leaves into a hand with good leaves, the hand grades as common and you get the common price. The farmer who grades his tobacco nicely, ties it nicely and handles it nicely gets the best price always.—Saxton Dutschke in Union Star.
